

Dear _____,

Being your ELF ON THE SHELF  has been one of the best jobs of my life. Your family is so much fun and I've loved watching you grow up over the years!

We've made tons of great  memories and boy have I found myself in some FuNnY hiding places. Remember the time you woke up and I was _____!

I've almost never had a bad report to give santa in all the years I've spent with you. Well, okay there was that one time you , but really I decided the jolly old  guy didn't need to know about that. It will be our little SECRET forever.

But, because you've been so good, I've got some sad news to tell you and it really doesn't seem fair . I'm sure you've noticed that lots of little girls and boys don't make as many good choices these days and well that NAUGHTY list keeps GROWING AND GROWING.

All this questionable  behavior has caused an elf shortage. We just can't keep up and santa has declared an ELF ON THE SHELF emergency.  He needs all his best elves to team up and work on a special super secret mission to see if we can't turn things around in the next few years.

So, this means that I'm getting reassigned, which really bums me out. On the bright side, you're being given permanent NICE LIST status! You deserve it and I'm so proud of you.

I'm really going to miss you, but I know you understand. Also, you could  really help me out, and santa too, by being a role model for other  kids and reminding them to make good choices so they stay on the NICE LIST. Coal for christmas is the worst!

take care and keep believing in the magic of elves and santa and christmas!

Love Your  ELF ON THE SHELF,
